Presenting/ Body Language

Actions	Words
Projects voice to the back of the group Quantifiable: I will see if I can hear you by standing in the back of the group.	" If you can hear my voice say ____." "Everybody touch your shoulders, touch your knees, touch your lips."
Makes eye contact during one-on-one and whole group instruction.	"Who can raise their hand and tell me what color my eyes are?"
Conveys confidence by: Standing up straight, facing the group, and controlling distracting or nervous body movements.
Speaks distinctly and slowly, and checks for understanding	"Do you guys understand me?" "Who can tell me all the part of the gun we just learned?"
Communicates instructions breaking them down into numbered steps so they are more easily learned and understood by others; explains things in a logical order Quantifiable: Break down the instruction into at least 3 parts.	"There are three parts to this..." Call and response" How many parts?" "First we do this..." " The first step is..."
Is patient when showing or teaching others	"Take your time." "That's OK, just try it again." "Try it this way. This will work better for you."
Smiles warmly and frequently
Asks kids if they have any questions about what was explained.	"Is anyone still confused about anything I just explained?"

Teaching

Actions	Words
Has campers follow instructions one step at a time. Quantifiable: Teaches one step and then immediately has the campers do it before teaching the next step.	"Let's do this one step at a time." "Try this first." "To make this work, we have to do four things. Let's go over them and then we'll try them together, one at a time."
Learns and uses names of campers Demonstrates skills and instructions instead of just saying them Quantifiable: Models 2 steps while explaining how to do the activity.	"This is what it will look like when you do it." "Please watch me; I'm going to show you."
Asks a lot of questions; works to get children to discover answers for themselves instead of lecturing to them	"So what do you think would happen if I did it this way?" "If I tied the knot this way, do you think it would be tighter or looser?" "Why do you think that?" "Which way would be better? How come?" "Should I hold it this way, this way, or this way?"
Uses repetition; reviews what was said or done before moving on to the next point	"Everybody tried that? Great. Looks good. So the first step is, we keep our shoulders in line with our hips. Now let's talk about our arms..."
Has children repeat things to help them remember Quantifiable: Uses repetition at least 3 times through the skill to remind campers parts of the boat.	"OK, so let's make sure we've got it. How many things do we do before we swing the bat?"
Makes encouraging comments	"You can do this." "You're really getting this down." "See, this is really better than a few minutes ago."
Acts with patience	"Take your time." "Try it again." "No big deal. Let's try it over." "You've got time. No rush." "Go slow. One part at a time."
Reinforces the importance and value of asking questions Quantifiable:	"I'm glad you asked that..." "It's important that you told me you weren't sure about this."

Instead of stating safety rules first ask the campers what safety rules they know. Then ask them why they think that rule is important.

"That's what smart people do, they ask questions..."

"You're asking questions. That shows me that you really care about getting this right."

"See, some people wouldn't have asked that out loud. It takes guts to say you're not sure about something. Way to go..."

LT III Skills

Group Leadership

Actions	Words
Learns children's names and uses them frequently
Regularly counts the children, especially when moving from one area to another, to make sure everyone is present
Works to spend equal amounts of time with each child so he or she is not "playing favorites"
Deliberately changes which child he or she sits next to at different activities, meals, etc.
When not at activities, during unscheduled time, plays with the children, makes conversation, etc.
Makes travel between activities interesting and fun by playing a game, singing a song, leading a cheer

Communication

Actions	Words
Makes eye contact with the person who is speaking
Bends knees to get closer to the child
Smiles when communicating with children
Nods head to indicate she or he is getting what is being said
Is quiet when others are speaking, waits to speak until others finish
From time to time, repeats what he has heard to make sure it was understood	"So you're saying..." "I want to be sure I'm getting this..." "You think this isn't fair because..." "You wish that you could do it over..."

Developing Positive Behavior

Actions	Words
Notices when children make good choices and praises these choices with enthusiasm	"Good job!" "That was nice – way to go"
Praises children immediately when they make good choices, instead of waiting until the end of the day or activity period
Praises children specifically when they make good choices	"You're trying that over again. Way to be persistent." "You told him that it was your fault. That was really honest." "You're doing more than you have to. That's being a leader." "You gave him a compliment even though he's on the other team. That's great sportsmanship. Nice." "You're doing this together. Good teamwork."

Managing Undesired Behavior

Actions	Words
Is consistent in responding to undesired behavior – responds every time, not just some of the time
Demonstrates calmness, self-control, and confidence by using a normal volume and speaking more slowly
Demonstrates seriousness by turning and facing misbehaving children; moves towards them instead of trying to talk about it from a distance
Crouches or sits down near them to show this is an important matter
Looks them in the eye
Describes the undesired choice and says it's not allowed	"You took stuff without asking. That's not allowed."
Corrects behavior by explaining immediately and with a calm, positive tone, what the child should do instead	"You can't throw that ball in the cabin. We don't want things to get knocked down or broken. You can do that outside – that would be fine." "You shoved her because you're mad about what she did. You can be mad, but you have to talk to her about it. You can't hit when you're angry – that's not allowed. Let's try this again. I'll help. Let's talk to her and tell her why you're really mad."
When angry or frustrated, puts these emotions into words instead of yelling or shouting	"I'm really disappointed that you did that." "I'm frustrated here, because you're not doing what you promised..."

Teaching Responsibility and Problem Solving

Actions	Words
Gives choices	"Would you like to pick this one or this one?" "We have to do both of these jobs, but you decide which one gets done first..." "Whatever you decide about this is OK with me." "You decide"
Asks children to think about solutions instead of automatically solving problems for them	"How do we solve this?" "What are our options?" "What can you do about that?" "So the two of you disagree. Now what do we do? How do we handle this?"
Teaches children to handle conflict by listening to each other	"Jillian, you go first and tell us what you're feeling, and we'll listen to you, and then I want Briana to say what she thanks, and we'll listen to her." "Peter, we want to make sure that you can repeat what Jose is saying, and that he can do the same about what you're saying. That's the best way to be sure you guys understand each other." "We'll go one at a time. We'll make sure that you get to say everything that you're feeling about this. Nobody's going to be left out."

Caring

Actions	Words
Asks for their opinion about what they want to do and what they think	"What do you think?" "How do you think we should handle this?" "I want to hear what you think would be a good idea..."
Speaks politely	"Please." "Thank you." "Excuse me." "OK, gentlemen, here's what we're going to do..."
Models appreciation for the work of others by thanking people in front of children, including instructors and specialists after an activity period	"Claire, thanks, this was a great lesson." "Hey, everybody, let's give Jon a high-five for teaching us this stuff today..."
Explains the reasons for rules or expectations to help children understand how to behave better	"Let me explain why this is the rule..." "I want to be sure that I do a good job telling you why this isn't safe, so that you'll know it yourself..."
Is vigilant about noticing put-downs and stating that they are not allowed	"You can't put people down. If you don't like what she said, then say, 'I don't like it.' But you can't call people names." "Sorry – name calling is not allowed. Not ever. Not even if you're joking. We don't go there..."

Working Together

Actions	Words
Shows up on time
Is dressed and groomed according to guidelines
Does what she or he promised, on time and correctly
Brings whatever equipment or materials are expected
Does what is asked to do	"Sure." "OK." "I'm on it."
Does more than is asked to do	"What else do you need?" "What more can I do?" "Do you need anything else?"
Asks others if they need help, without or before being asked	"Do you need help?" "What can I do?" "How can I help?"
Demonstrates "give and take" and flexibility by changing her or his mind or compromising	"OK, well let's try it your way then." "I'll go along with that. Let's see if it works." "We don't have to do it my way. Let's try your way first." "There's probably more than one right way to do this." "Well, we've both got different ideas here. How about we do this from your side and this from my side, and see how it works – is that OK with you?"
Expresses feelings and concerns out loud (instead of behind people's backs)	"There's something I want to tell you about." "I've been thinking about something but it doesn't make sense for me to keep this to myself. I want to tell you about it." "If I told you about how I was feeling about yesterday, would you tell me what you think about it?"
Acknowledges mistakes	"I messed up. I'm sorry." "This was my fault." "I should have done this first, like you said. Sorry." "I can do this better. I want' do it this way again."
Plans ahead	"What are we going to do after that?" "What should we do if that doesn't work?" "If this doesn't go over, what's our Plan B?" "Let's make a back-up plan just in case."

Positive Learning

Actions	Words
Asks questions about how to do things	"What's the best way to do this?" "How can I do this better?" "I could use some ideas that would help me with this..."
Asks questions about how to do things	"What's the best way to do this?" "How can I do this better?" "I could use some ideas that would help me with this..."
Asks questions about why things are done a certain way	"I want to learn about why you do this first instead of that. Can you talk to me about that?" "Is it OK if I ask you a question about that?" "I want to understand better..."
Admits that she or he doesn't know something	"I don't know." "I'm not sure I know what I'm supposed to do here." "Before I do any more on this, can I check in with you and make sure I'm doing this the way you want?"
Asks for feedback on performance	"What do you think?" "How did I do?" "Any suggestions?"
Listens to constructive criticism: asks for more detail	"I want to ask you about that – how would I do that in a situation where...?"
Listens to constructive criticism: thanks other for help	"I appreciate that you're helping me with this. Thanks." "That really helped. I feel much better about this now."
Sets goals	"I want to learn how to do this." "I want to get better at this." "That's something that I really want to learn." "The next thing I want to work on is..."
